Dublin has beautiful scenery and the climate is very good. I think Dublin is a great city to study.

International Study Centre

The ISC is a very good place to study, it helps us to improve ourselves so we can go to the University. The teachers at the ISC are very nice. They help us study and they also help us with our life. The Foundation Year is very important because I can learn how to study at UCD and how to prepare essays.

UCD is one of the most famous colleges of the world and the Business course in UCD is very good.

Student Spotlight: Shihao Zhou (Josh) at University of Vermont

Country: China

University Degree: Business

Location

Hiking, skiing, biking, skydiving, kayaking. There are so many things you can do here. You can see the seasons change. If you hike in summer, you will see different views than hiking in fall. I like the winter. It's fine if you stay at home and keep warm, but the best part is skiing. The campus is always beautiful. I like the university green a lot. I can just sit there for chill for a long time.

GGP / ISC

GGP classes are designed for preparing you for campus life. It helped my English skills and preparation. I now can handle it when I speak up and do presentations. That's the biggest change. Academically, I don't think I could have made it without the GGP. For my daily life, I think GGP provided me the opportunity to make friends with Americans.

Student Spotlight: Yifan Wang at University of Western Australia

Country: China

Studied: Diploma of Commerce

Yifan's Story

The biggest thing I have learnt from being at Taylors College is how to communicate in another language. Also I want to be an exchange student to another country, maybe in Russia or America. After Taylors I will do a double degree in Economy and Media at UWA, I would like to be an economist.

It is very friendly here, this is a friendly city and a good place to study. The teachers are kind. A different country will give you a different experience and you meet different people. I think having international friends is very fun.
